Comments:

This exceptional 272 acre Macon County farm offers an outstanding combination of productive income and premier recreational opportunities. Approximately 130 acres are currently in tillable production, featuring predominantly fertile bottomland soils that provide strong agricultural potential. Bear Creek meanders through the eastern portion of the property, creating a natural travel corridor that supports thriving populations of deer, turkey, and other wildlife. Whether you're seeking a high-quality hunting property, an income-producing investment, or a diverse farm with long-term appeal, this property has it all.
